

Evening Telegraph PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON. (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED). AT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH BUILDING, NO. 108 N. THIRD STREET.

Can Mexicans Give Peace to Mexico? The memorandum of the Secretary of State, recently published, and the correspondence between his department and ex-Minister Campbell, explicitly declares the policy of the Administration, so far as the attitude of the United States towards the republic of Mexico is concerned.

From this it will be seen that, so far as we are concerned, Mexico is to be left to take care of herself. Nor is there any danger of any interference from any foreign quarter. The expressions of all the Governments of the Old World are in opposition to touching that fatal country again, and all look to the United States as the power which ought to interfere, if any interference is proper.

It is reversed by a great majority of the people, and no sooner is it established than a rival springs up, the people flock to him, and the new power is in the ascendant. Then follows a fearful butchery of the subdued. Life is considered of the most trivial importance. Property is confiscated, and falls into the possession of the victors.

It is the expressed opinion of many influential Southerners, whose standing and services command respect, and give them a just claim to advise, that in the present anomalous condition of the South, socially and politically, he is the best citizen, the truest to the interests of the region wherein he dwells, who, discarding all idea of actively taking part in political affairs, devotes his time, energies, and intellect to the improvement of his own condition, and second to the encouragement and support of measures calculated to revive the prosperity of the South.

It may not be proper at the present time to take steps to establish a protectorate in Mexico. We do not think it is proper until the people of that land have shown once more their incapacity to govern themselves.

they have done so, as we have no doubt they soon will, then it is a duty we owe to our fellow-men, to our future, to step in, and by the iron hand of power crush out the evil-doers, protect the innocent and the weak, establish trade with the return of security, and give to Mexico what she has never possessed—a Government strong enough and willing enough to suppress all violence, and enforce obedience from both its partisans and its enemies.

The Cheering Prospects of the Autumn Trade. We do not hazard much when we assert that the prospects for an exceedingly brisk autumn trade are better than they have been since the days of 1860. It seems as though a combination of favorable circumstances is working to once more fill the arteries of the mercantile body, and give renewed life to the drooping spirits of our merchants.

United with these are the splendid prospects of the crops. A few days ago we republished an article from the New York Nation on "Nature as an Agrarian." In it was clearly shown how the crops would affect capital and labor; how the fall of breadstuffs would tend to brighten the prospects of every one, except the enormously rich; how the people, as a whole, would be able to indulge in luxuries from which they had been heretofore excluded; how this capability would at once be followed by the indulgence, and thus an impetus be given to trade which would set all the wheels of mercantile operations in full motion.

Now, as we have appealed to the Miners to give us the culprit's name, and the Miners refuse to do so, we must either conclude that the Catholic organ is guilty of falsehood, or that its editor is guilty of complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln.

The Ingraham Estate.—On Saturday last we referred in our local columns to the fact that the vast property, known as the "Ingraham Estate," consisting of a large part of the ground on which the city of Leeds, in England, is built, was exciting considerable interest; that among the direct heirs in this city were the families of William J. P. Ingraham, Commodore Selfridge, and the children of L. P. Astmeade; and that a meeting of the heirs resident in America was advertised to be held at the Astor House, New York, on the 24th instant.

After the delivery of a poem by Captain McNamara, of the Ninth regiment, a few remarks were made by Mr. Patrick Collins, after which the meeting dissolved.

The Palace Car Excursionists at Chicago. CHICAGO, Ill., July 24.—The editorial party from New York and other Eastern cities arrived here, via the Central Transportation Company's line, last evening. They number 375 persons, and took rooms at the Sherman House.

A Terrible Accident.—Four Children Drowned. From the Kenosha (Wis.) Telegraph, July 13. Six children, five boys and one girl, aged from three to ten years, were in a small boat, sailing on the lake about a quarter of a mile from shore, just off the north end of the island. The boat was overloaded, and by an unfortunate movement of some of the company, it was upset.

The European War Rumors.—Count Bismarck's organ pricks for us the well-blown war bubble before its size had got too portentous. That story of new ships and horses (a horse-marine game any way), of artillery and workshops in activity, is nothing compared with the marked diplomatic stagnation of the present European midsummer.

GAINING A POINT.—The New York Herald has not yet determined to drop Grant. It lets him down very easily to-day, however, in the following: "At a Republican Union State Convention at Trenton on Tuesday last, resolutions were adopted in favor of impartial suffrage and in support of Congress; but a resolution in favor of General Grant for the next Presidency, together with a resolution on Maximilian, was laid on the table. This shows that over in Jersey they do not know the difference between a live man and a dead man.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONVENTION. COLUMBIA, S. C., July 24.—The Convention met at 12 o'clock, and was called to order by President Gleaves. Between fifty and sixty delegates and from two to three hundred spectators were present.

HONORS TO GENERAL MEAGHER.

Boonport, July 24.—The death of the late General Meagher was mourned in a meeting in Faneuil Hall this evening. Probably not less than six or eight thousand persons were present, completely filling the ancient edifice in every part.

Collector Thomas Russell was the next speaker. His eulogy of the life and services of the deceased was very eloquent, and was received with much approval.

I AM ONLY BILIOUS, SAYS THE debilitated victim of sick headache, pain in the right side, constipation of the bowels, and hypochondria. Are these trifles, then? No! Unchecked they lead to mental disease. And yet as surely as dawn drenches darkness, BURKE'S EFFERVESCENT SWEETENED APERIENT will remove them. Try it.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS—IMPERITY OF THE BLOOD.—Health consists in the purity of the fluids and solids which compose the human body. If these humors vitiate it, it affects the whole system by its course through every fibre and vessel.

SCHOMACKER & CO.'S CELEBRATED PIANOS.—Acknowledged superior in all respects to any made in this country, and sold on most reasonable terms. New and second-hand Pianos constantly on hand for rent, tuning, moving, and packing promptly attended to.
